The popularity of fantasy genre, aimed at mythopoetic projects of the past with a special plot, composition, picture of the world and type of a hero, became one of the cultural phenomenon of contemporary society. A vivid representative of fantasy reflection of slav-arias non-mythology in painting is Izmail painter Sergey Suhinin. Hundreds of plots of his works are represented by the pictures of rise and fall of protocivilizations (Atlantida, Hyperborean, Lemuria), the system of images of Gods (Perun, Svarog, Karn, Niy, triad of Morok and others). Sergey Suhinin’s artistic devices are aimed at the attempt to overcome simultaneity of time, picture of the world in motion, dynamic artistic conflict with the help of the devices of intensification of color and light, attention to details.

The artist also works in traditional genre of landscape, however, he often adds to his compositions the motives of fabulousness and magic. These are, for example, the plots of the pictures of the cycle “Vilkovo” – Old Believers center of Southern Bessarabia. Time stops at some paintings, they tend to statics of classical composition “Christmas Night” (2016); “Winter of 1986”). In the work “Round-the-Clock(2016) time disappears at all: generous Vilkovo land fruits, gathered throughout a year, are represented in one pictorial slice, that is associated with the mythologeme of lost paradise.

Sergey Suhinin is sure in the reality of fantasy worlds, created by him, and is aware of his creative experience as a certain mission, aimed at education and warning of mankind. The artist’s enthusiastic immersion in eternal issues of the origin of the Universe and man, structure of spiritual and material world make the acquaintance with his works, carried out skillfully by the author, into exciting journey to the area of consciousness, since myth as a means of awakening of associative thinking, invariably inspires, making new senses and subtexts be opened.

In painting and graphics the gallery of remarkable images, full of romantics, majesty, restrained spiritual search is introduced by a vivid representative of fine arts of the South of Odessa region Ivan Kotsoflyak. The plots of his works, performed in the technique of oil and watercolor painting, are mainly connected with the nature of the Ukrainian Danube region: unpretentious Northern Black Sea Coast, perfect in its unique simplicity; Danube distributary with quiet fishing area; Budjak steppe open places. The author’s meditative perception of southern nature and philosophical subtext of compositions became a characteristic feature of the author’s artistic style.

Graphics in Ivan Kotsoflyak’s creative activity took a modest but special quite separate place. The works, carried out in the author’s original technique, that reminds colorful etching to a certain extent, but not printed, with a wide circulation, exist only in a single copy. These are clear ways of expression, giving expressiveness to the form, the restraint of which is worth extensive experience. Most of Ivan Kotsoflyak’s graphic works differ in keen sense of humor, creating the atmosphere of intelligent game. Their plots, executed in sanguine, were taken from legends, folk ceremonial holidays, household scenes. Irony and philosophical subtext enrich and broaden reading and thematic circle of his works, wherein irony and grotesque never reach sarcasm, being mitigated by lyricism and good nature of the author’s inner world.

Izmail journalist, writer, local historian Igor Ognev is a remarkable figure in the town cultural life and the South of Odessa region. The subject of the author’s historical preferences is the period of Izmail history of 1812-1917. Within this time Igor Ognev was the first of local historians to develop and publish the research on architects, who had established Izmail contemporary architectural image; the history of emergence and development of local authorities; the history of the origins and development of Izmail Admiralty; the development of town press. I. Ognev’s personal photo exhibitions were exhibited at the museum of A. V. Suvorov and Izmail picture gallery (2016-2020). I. Photographic works of Nataly Gashinskaya, the Chairman of Izmail Photoartists’ Union, don’t refer to the category of conceptually organized. They are always based on direct fixation of non-staged reality with the tendency to stress the elements of unexpectedness and aesthetical expressiveness in habitual town landscape and pictures of nature. A significant part of Nataly Gashinskaya’s photo collection is a series of photo works with city views in a definite time period: at the dawn, that is empty and full of special energetics, in the absence of people, and pictures of the town at the end of a day.

It is not simply documentary picture of the fragments of reality. The works make an impression of the author’s individual mastery and aesthetic feeling of reality. One of the leading specialists in the field of artistic photography Nikolay Sednin estimates that the author has a surprising peculiarity to find compositional angle and work with light intuitively. His works are very simple, but everything is in its place– there is a harmonic combination of the main criteria of photo skill at the recorded moment: color – ton – light – composition, the author’s balance of form and content have been found.
Izmail master of photography Igor Kots is a member of the Creative Union “Photoart” Moscow, who received in 2012 an honorary title Artist Photoart (A-PHOTOART); a member of FédérationInternationale de l’ArtPhotographique at the rank of AFIAP (since 2017), cooperating actively with The National Union of Photoartists of Ukraine. In the asset of experience of the past is the work as a photojournalist of the newspaper “Dunaets”, camera operator of the studios “Izmail TV” and “Bessarabia TV”. At present he is “a free photographer”, taking part in a range of town projects and advertising commercial companies activity. Personal exhibitions were held in Yuzhnyi (2016) and Izmail (2006, 2011, 2013, 2015).

Igor Kots is a talented author, searching for his creative potential in the beauty of natural phenomena and hidden reality. Love for travelling reflected in the exploration of Crimean places and long trips along the valleys of Issyk-Kulskaya region, Kirgiziya, to Yakutiya, the Kurila Islands. The comprehension of places, that are far from advertising and philosophy of fun, crowds of tourists and commercial fuss, is common in this non-standard geography of journeys. Trips to hidden places of mankind resonate with photoartist’s spiritual search, unique life philosophy and his own way of self-knowledge, a desire to understand signs and capture them by camera.
Realistic images of the author’s photo works often become a means of multi-valued circumlocution, almost symbols of another project of being, and cipher of wild nature, captured by the camera, reminds a man who the master of the planet is. The majesty of Far Eastern mountains at the height of clouds; mysterious, almost lunar landscape in the crater; panoramic views of nature without any signs of presence of civilization from the tops of Kurile range; wild waterfalls; consequences of hurricane on a deserted beach; bear tracks on a wet sand; virgin nature of the Paramushir and Onekotan Islands; mystical reflections of Mirror Lake; mysterious energetics of localities left by people; cemetery of vessels – these are the plots of Kurilian cycle of Igor Kots’s photo works, part of which is submitted for consideration to the IX season of international contest “ART. PERFECTION. RECOGNITION” (2020) of International Academy of Modern Arts.
